1 - What are the strengths and weaknesses of Rachel Cohen (discussion section leader, lab section leader, grader) as an instructor, and how might Rachel Cohen's teaching be improved?

Response Rate	9/27 (33.33%)

- Very passionate and welcoming; engaging lectures and leader for projects and assignments. For grading assignments (readings) there was little feedback provided, but otherwise a great TA
- Rachel always had relevant and interesting clarifying points to add to the class lectures and was a very good instructor when she taught one day of class. I didn't go to office hours but I heard good things about her as a TA from students who did.
- Rachel helped a lot in this class by providing office hours and clarifying points that the professors failed to explain clearly.
- Rachel did a fantastic job of providing informative feedback, leading us through class projects, and answering our questions. She was always very knowledgable and reasonable.
- Rachel did a great job explaining topics that were unclear.
- Rachel was awesome. When she did lecture (squirrel project and the other coding thing), it was clear and concise.
- Rachel is the best! She is so kind, knowledgable, and graded our work in a timely manner.
- Rachel did not get a chance to really teach during this semester. The little times she did teach though, I enjoyed her teaching. She was able to make very complicated information easy to understand. Her presentation style is conversational and engaging, making it easy to connect with her and enjoy the section she was leading. I can't say much in regard to where she can improve since she only lead a section once.
- Rachel was a great TA, and was always helpful and advocated for the students. She was also a very fair grader.

2 - What is the overall teaching effectiveness of Rachel Cohen?
